ARE ALL EYES

DEFECTIVE?

Certain it is that many people experience no trouble with their eyes. Naturally a very large proportion of those who consult opticians or oculists have defective eyes, because the trouble they have leads them to the consultation.

There have been quite a number of people in to see me of late who have nothing at all the matter with their eyes.

If you have any doubt as to the condition of your eyes it will afford you a great deal of satisfaction to know positively. I shall be glad to tell you.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

And the Platform at the Depot Will Be Protected.

F. P. Milburn, the well known architect of Charlotte, arrived in the city this morning. He is here for the purpose of conferring with the county commissioners with regard to the erection of the new jail for Guilford county.

Mr Milburn told a Telegram representative that he will superintend the construction of the sheds over the platform at the passenger depot, the contract for which has just been awarded. Work on the sheds will begin this week and Mr. Milburn says a large force of hands will complete the job not later than Christmas.

The covering will be a series of umbrella sheds overspreading the entire platform (except the tracks) from South Elm street crossing to Aste street.

THE BATTLE OF LADYSMITH

Is Now On and There's a Hot Time In the Old Town Today.

BOERS SURROUND THE PLACE

On Three Sides—A Report from Holland that the British Army Has Surrendered.

By Cable to the Telegram

Kimberly, Oct. 30—The Boer losses in the recent skirmishes are estimated at 12 killed and 45 wounded.

THE BATTLE BEGUN.

Ladysmith, Oct. 30—The battle has begun. The Boers opened fire with their artillery on the British camp. After seven shots had been fired the British silenced the Boer guns advancing on the left flank. The Boers have now surrounded the town upon three sides. White's men are in splendid spirits. Yule's men are almost entirely recovered from the exhaustion of their forced march from Glencoe. The advance posts of the Boers are now only two and a half miles away. They have stationed heavy guns, which fact causes uneasiness, as Yule reports that the Boers have improved in their artillery firing since the battle of Dundee.

BRITISH ARMY SURRENDERS?

Berlin, Oct. 30—A report received here from Holland says the whole British army at Ladysmith has surrendered and that the troops are now prisoners of war.

ENGINEER KILLED

And also the Fireman, and Probably Several Passengers.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

New Castle, Pa, Oct. 30.—The B. & O passenger train was wrecked between Carbon and Lowellville this morning. The engineer was killed and the fireman fatally injured. It is reported several passengers were killed. The wreck was caused by an open switch.

DEDICATION EXERCISES.

Large Congregation Attended St Benedict's Catholic Church Yesterday.

The dedication exercises yesteday of St Benedict's Catholic church, on North Elm street, were attended by a large concourse of people, the edifice being filled to the limit of its seating capacity.

The services began at 10:30 a. m. and were conducted by Rt. Rev. Leo Haid, the Catholic bishop of North Carolina, assisted by the rector of the church and numerous visiting clergymen.

The dedication proper occupied about half an hour and was followed by Solemn High Mass.

The choir sung Mazot's Mass, and were assisted by Miss Swaim, alto; Mr. Z. V. Taylor, tenor; and Mr. W. B Hill, bass.

The services were also attended by many visiting Catholics from surrounding towns.

The congregation, still few in numbers, is rapidly increasing. St. Benedict's is the second Catholic church ever built in Greensboro, the first one being St. Agnes, on North Forbis street, which was built in 1876, and sold to the city last summer and is now being used as a high school, having been remodelled for that purpose.

The Telegram always notes with pleasure the erection of a new church in our midst and extends to the rector and congregation of St. Benedict's best wishes for their future prosperity.

THIEVES ARRESTED.

Two Boys and a Man are in Jail for Stealing Shoes and Harness.

The man who is charged with breaking into Dr. W. L. Grissom's barn last Monday night and stealing a set of double harness, is now in jail awaiting a hearing before Mayor Taylor this afternoon. He was arrested in Raleigh Saturday and Chief Scott went down to that city yesterday and brought him here last night. His name is Ed King, and he is a negro who has a bad reputation. Mr. Scott says King had several pawn-brokers tickets in his possession which may prove instruments in discovering other stolen goods. King says he is not guilty, but the evidence is very damaging.

Chief Scott received a message from the chief of police of Reidsville last night stating that he had arrested two boys, Walker Penn, colored, and Joe Ware, white, for breaking into the Carolina Shoe Co's. store in this city, Friday night. Mr. Scott went to Reidsville last night and returned this morning with the prisoners. They admit their guilt, but say they did not get but four or five pairs of shoes, though it is thought at least a dozen pairs were stolen. Chief Scott secured three pairs and was told by the boys that some of the shoes were sold at a certain house at Morehead station.

They will be given a hearing this evening. The boys are about sixteen years of age.

Dressmakers.

Dressmakers and other ladies who have dresses to make will find at our store a very complete stock of waist and skirt linings, silesias, drillings, percalines, nearsilks, cambrics, cotton and linen canvas, double faced linings, crinolines, stays, whalebones, waterproof, brush and velveteen bindings, spool silks and cotton, hooks and eyes, collar canvas and in fact everything that goes into a dress.

SUNDAY AT GRACE CHURCH

Farewell Sermon to Rev. and Mrs. J W. Frank.

Yesterday was such an one as people love to spend indoors—raw, threatening rain and growing constantly colder, but in spite of the fact there was a goodly assemblage of people in attendance upon the morning service at Grace Methodist Protestant church. Rev. J. W. Frank, the recently appointed missionary to Japan, preached a good sermon from the text, "Precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a a little, there a little," the central thought being that we learn our duty a little at a time, not all at once, and if we do that which is revealed to us a little at a time, greater duties will follow in their course.

At 7:30 last evening the farewell service to Mr. and Mrs. Frank was held. After the singing of the missionary hymn "Jesus shall reign where'er the sun doth his successive journeys run" by the choir and congregation, Rev. T. J. Ogburn led in prayer. The scripture lesson for the evening was read by Rev. J. F. McCulloch, after which the choir sang an anthem. The pastor, of the church, Rev. T. M. Johnson, then outlined the plan of the service, stating in the course of his remarks that the biggest end of the work of the Methodist Protestant church in North Carolina, and in fact of every denomination, should be in the foreign field.

Mr. Johnson was followed by J. Norman Wills, representing the Sunday school. The responsibility of the missionary is great. Japan is being re-moulded, and every missionary to that country must aid in the process. He would like to represent, not only this Sunday school, but every one in North Carolina and the United States, and say to these two missionaries, God-speed!

Mrs. J. F. McCulloch then spoke for the Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society. Every woman who fails to be interested in foreign missions is lacking in that spirit of love for all men which the Master intends that each one should feel. The society has a plan for learning more about Japan by reading and studying systematically some books which they have bearing on this subject.

At the close of Mrs. McCulloch's remarks, the Junior Christian Endeavor Society sang "Oh, send the Bible," a missionary song through and through.

Miss Charlie Hunter then on behalf of both Christian Endeavor societies presented Mr. and Mrs. Frank with a little book, "Daily Cheer for all the Year," by Virginia Reed—a beautiful gift and appropriate. Miss Hunter, as president of the Christian Endeavor Society, said that the missionary committee has done more work than any other committee of the society.

Mr. Johnson then introduced Rev Mr. Frank, who said in part that while he was a boy he felt a call to the ministry, and upon being assured by his own conscience that the call was genuine, began his preparation. He tried to do his duty step by step, and when recently he began to be impressed with the idea that his duty lay in the foreign field, he simply laid the matter before his God, feeling that the way would be made plain. Being convinced finally that herein lay the path of duty, he made known to the missionary board his willingness to go to Japan, and was here on his way to his new field of labor.

Mrs. Frank said that for years she had had a great desire to be a missionary, but the way had not been opened to her, but now that she was actually entering upon the work she was very happy in the prospect. She made a very touching talk, and won the sympathy and love of the audience by her manifest consecration to her work. Both Mr. and Mrs. Frank spoke of this as the happiest moment of their lives.

Rev. T. J. Ogburn, corresponding secretary of the board of foreign missions, then made a characteristic talk. He said he had known Mr. Frank for some time, and the better he knew him, the greater was his conviction that here was a man who would be successful in the foreign field. The church in Winston, of which Mr Frank was pastor, is in a more prosperous condition today than ever before, and it is due to his untiring zeal and energy in carrying on the work, which is without an exception the most difficult field of labor in the North Carolina conference. One attribute of Mr Frank's which greatly impressed him, was his hopefulness. Under discouragements which might stagger a less hopeful man, he was always cheerful and expecting to emerge from his difficulties in due time. "Give our love," said Mr Ogburn, addressing Mr. and Mrs. Frank, "to Mr. Maruyama." He then explained that Mr. Maruyama was formerly mayor of Nagoya, a city of 240,000 inhabitants, but had later declined the position, which was one of trust, honor and wealth, to become a Christian worker in the Methodist Protestant church. "Give our love to all of the people there," said Mr. Ogburn.

After the singing of the peculiarly appropriate hymn, Ye Christian Heralds go, proclaim Salvation in Immanuel's Name, the audience was dismissed, Rev. Mr. Frank pronouncing the benediction.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank left this morning at 7:30, enroute for Japan, going by way of Asheville, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Paul and Vancouver, B. C. At Vancouver they will embark on the Canadian Pacific railway company's steamer, Empress of Japan, which is due at Yokahama on November 20th. Their headquarters in the latter city will be at 83 Hinode Cho. ota. They expect to remain ten years, at the end of which time they have the privilege of returning to this country or engaging for another term of service.

PRITCHARD TO STUMP OHIO

The North Carolina Senator to Enter the Gubernatorial Fight

HOLTON, EWART AND PRICHARD

Tyese These Three, Express the Belief that the Amendment Will be Defeated.

Special to The Telegram.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The visit of President McKinley to Richmond this week to attend the launching of the Shubrick will be an important one. There is said to be some political significance in the visit of the President to Virginia, though at the White House this idea is discredited by both the utterances of the president and of other officials. The president has been urged to go to Richmond, the invitation coming from the city council, and seconded by democrats as well as republicans of the city. Among those who came to Washington to extend the invitation being some of the most prominent men in democratic councils of the state, including the congressman from the Richmond district. Notwithstanding this, however, the visit of the president may have an important bearing upon future political conditions in the Old Dominion. Republicans from the state say that the president is popular in Virginia, and that there is and always has been a strong sentiment in favor of McKinley and protection in the State, and that at the present time there is a strong feeling in Virginia in favor of the retention of the Philippines. Added to this the present political unrest and opposition in the state to the present Virginia election law, it is not difficult to understand that the presence of the chief executive may give an impetus to the present independent movement, which may bring about a strong opposition to the democracy next year. The negro question in Virginia is not a disturbing element as it is further south, and the white people unitedly outnumber the negroes.

A prominent Virginia republican, who will not allow his name to be quoted at present, stated the other day that next year the republicans will nominate a full electoral ticket in Virginia, and that there will also be congressional candidates in all of the districts of the state. The gentleman said that he felt hopeful that Virginia would cast its electoral vote at the coming presidential election for President McKinley, and he based his hopes upon the feeling alluded to in favor of expansion and protection, and also to the strong opposition in some portions of the state to the free coinage of silver. The gentleman stated that Virginia on a straight fight between the two parties is more closely divided than most people outside of Virginia imagine. In support of this statement the gentleman pointed out that Blaine, when he ran against Cleveland in 1884, lost the state by only a small majority, and that Cleveland's majority over Harrison was only a little over one thousand. What the policy of the Virginia republicans will be in the next campaign cannot be stated, but from little things spoken in Washington, it is the belief that the republicans will during the next few months perfect one of the best organizations the party has seen in Virginia for many years, and will make a strong fight for the vote of the state next year.

Whether there is anything in the situation to alarm the democracy or not, many of the wisest politicians in the party believe that the party will have to face next year a determined opposition, and that it behooves the democracy to get together without delay, and to perfect their own organization, and to take nothing for granted. Virginia has twelve electoral votes, and the loss of these to the republicans would be a most serious blow to the democratic party, and might—probably would cost the party the presidency in 1900.

Governor Tyler, of Virginia, who has been in the city for several days, has returned to Richmond. The governor before he left Washington was very indignant at the insinuations that he would not submit his senatorial claims to the democratic caucus. The governor denied the stories, and stated to his friends that he is making his fight for the seat of Senator Martin, within the party ranks, and looks for his support to democrats, who will sit and vote in the caucus of the party when the legislature assembles.

Senator Pritchard came to Washington the other day from Raleigh, where he went on legal business. He was accompanied by State Chairman Holton, of the North Carolina republican committee, and by Judge Ewart, whose nomination will come up in the senate again next session. Senator Pritchard will go to Ohio to take part in the gubernatorial contest in that state. He will probably make no speeches in Maryland.

Chairman Holton, Judge Ewart and Senator Pritchard all express the belief that the proposed constitutional amendment will be defeated and that the electoral vote of North Carolina will be cast for McKinley. They also express hopes that the republican state ticket will be elected next year.

It is announced that ex-Governor Chamberlin, of South Carolina, has been nominated for the state legislature of Massachusetts by the democrats of Brookfield, Mass. The ex-governor when in the south was one of the most notorious of the carpet-bag regime in South Carolina, and those who know him seem rather amused at his posing now in Massachusetts as a democrat. It is said, however, that even the "blackest sinner" can be converted.

The round trip for the launching at Richmond next week has been fixed at four dollars.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU,
HIGH POINT, N. C., Oct. 30.

W. J. Armfield, Jr., came up from Asheboro Saturday evening.

F. H. Nicholson was one of Greensboro's representatives here yesterday.

Clarence Field came up from Charlotte yesterday and returned this morning.

J. D. Newton, editor Thomasville News, was in the city Saturday evening.

Vivian Parker, salesman for Harry-Belk Bros., Greensboro, spent Sunday here.

Gurney Kearns expounded his heartfelt sympathy to "her" in Thomasville last night.

Miss Sallie Lewis, of Greensboro, spent yesterday with the Misses Hilliard here.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Lee, of "Fair View" lodge, was in the city Saturday evening.

Bob Holton, who works in a furniture factory at Winston, spent yesterday at his home here.

Mrs. W. H. Ragan and Misses Bertha Snow and Annis Wheeler returned home Saturday night.

Samuel H. Westfall, advance agent for the "Farmer Hopkins" company, which will show here next Friday night, Nov. 3, was in the city Saturday. This show scored a hit the last time it was here, and no doubt the same "rep" will be sustained this time.

Some one has asked why most of the roosters and turkeys on the market are minus their long tail feathers. That's dead easy: Because long feathers are all the go in headgear among the fair sex. We pity the proud peacock, with its beautiful plumage, if the girls should get their hands on him.

Died, Mrs. Joe Brown, at her home in northwest High Point yesterday morning at 2 o'clock. She was taken with a spell of colic last Thursday and gradually grew worse until her demise. The interment took place in Abbott's Creek cemetery this morning at 11 o'clock. The deceased leaves a husband and several children to mourn their loss.

Saturday night or early Sunday morning some one broke a glass out of the window at W. H. Dudley's fruit and notion stand under the Hollowell house. Evidently the miscreant became frightened at the noise of breaking glass and fled before stealing enough to amount to anything, for after inspecting his goods Mr. Dudley did not find anything missing, so far as we could ascertain. It may be that the fellow was hungry and helped himself to a small quantity of fruit, which was not missed.

WINSTON FAIR CLOSES.

The Officers Say the Carnival Has Been a Financial Success.

Winston, Oct. 28.—Winston's joyous horse show and carnival closed this afternoon with an old-fashioned tournament. R. B. Sanford won the crown, H. P. Brown first maid, P. H. Hanes, Jr., second, P. H. Lybrook, third. The coronation ball is in progress tonight, when the queen will be crowned.

The officers of the association say the carnival has been a financial success, and they will begin work at once, making improvements on the park for next year's event. All of the racing purses and expenses were paid in full and the association has about $2,000 left. The attendance at the park this afternoon was much larger than anticipated, and the programme was one of the most pleasant of the entire week. Several lovers of the sport arranged some races for this afternoon. The first contest was a 2:50 trotting pace, and resulted as follows:

First heat: Walton B., first; Lightfoot, second; Bessie, third. Walton B, driven by John McCreary, was declared the winner.

Trotting race—first heat: Island Boy, first; Queen Bess, second; Dolly Patchen, third. Island Boy, driven by Col. Lybrook, won the race.

The lady riders' contest elicited much attention. There were three entries, as follows: Miss Sadie Jones, of Winston; Miss Minnie Douthat, of Mocksville; Miss Nannie Hutchison, of Charlotte. The judges gave Miss Hanes first prize, Miss Douthat second, and Miss Hutchison third.

Street Parade Tomorrow

The parade of Prof. Gentry's famous dog and pony show is to be exhibited here tomorrow and promises to be one of the prettiest street pageants ever witnessed in our city. It is quite unique, novel and interesting, as it is made up of numerous cages, tableau wagons and band chariots, all of which are drawn by beautiful little ponies. Pinto and Satan, the smallest baby elephants in the world will be seen.

The Brooklyn Eagle commenting on the Gentry show says: No greater, grander and more pleasing spectacle than that of Prof. Gentry's dog and pony show ever traversed the streets of Brooklyn and the general remark of the thousands that witnessed it, was "what pretty parade for a dog and pony show." Every one should avail themselves of seeing this really wonderful spectacle.

"IN IT."

While most people profess to doubt it—it is such a periodical, worn-out anticipation — the dispatches from across the deep insist and persist that a dangerous federation is forming in Europe with the end to force Great Britain to let up in her eastern bull-dozing. She has been "lording it" in the land-stealing business till patience and forbearance have lost all their virtues to the cowed governments of the European continent, and the Transvaal affair comes as the blow that killed father.

So it is said. While Russia and France and Germany officially deny that they ever had or ever will have such intentions as the correspondents impute to them, the probability of the thing is in nowise extenuated, as these governments would be very undiplomatic and dull to make a proclamation of their secret plans and motives. And of course everybody knows that truth is a silent partner in the affairs of nations.

But what we started out to say is this: If an alliance is created against England, Your Uncle Sam is "in it" up to his eyes. If the blood-thirsty Europeans double-team on John Bull, we are bound by our national honor to sail in and help him out. When we sent soldiers to lick Spain it is now said by gentlemen high in authority that France would have intercepted our transports, but John Bull, with his weather eye, foresaw the future need of our help, and said "Hands off! fair fight." The French then didn't dare meddle any further. Now when England's fear has come, when danger is creeping toward her door, it would be the grossest ingratitude on our part, forever disgracing us in the eyes of the world, if we were to mock her fears, and laugh at her calamity, or to even hold ourselves aloof in simple neutral sullenness.

There may be no alliance against the mother country—let us hope there won't be—but if there is, however distasteful to us such an innovation in our annals may be—however deeply we may sympathize with the poor Boers, conscience and Washingtonian and Jacksonian and Jeffersonian scruples must be throttled. The Monroe fence is down, and in our latter-day imperial policy in which President McKinley launches the motto "Hold-fast is the Only Dog," we cannot afford to forfeit the assistance of Great Britain. We must load our transports for new troubles. It don't seem exactly natural, but it's so.

McKinley has got us into a distressing predicament, and the passing days are adding on new complexities and complications.

The thing for us to do is to hope England may be allowed by her jealous robber-friends to pursue the even tenor of her crime against the Dutchmen unmolested. There's not very much certainty in this hope, but it's the best hope we have.

There is no sort of doubt that the average grown-up Englishman harbors about the same opinion of Uncle Paul and his unswerving Dutch scruples as is expressed by the following letter to an English paper by a paper by a 10-year-old English boy:

"Krugger and Kannerbulism is one. He is a man of blud. Mr. Chamberling has wrote to him saying come and fite or else give up the blud of the English you have took. he is a boar-dutchman and a wickid heethin lod Kitchener has been sent for his goar blud and to bring back his scanchelus head ded or alive."

It must be quite annoying to a modest female to have to run the guantlet of curious loafers that gather round the entrance to the santification tent these nights—and at the entrance of most churches generally—to smoke cigarettes and gaze at the girls as they pass in and out. It's a sure sign of low breeding, and a branch of the police department should be detailed to break it up. It's a violation of correct religious observance and common decency.

Grant Allen, the author and scientist died, at London last week. He was a Canadian, 51 years old, and had attained to worldwide celebrity by reason of his books. But his career was spent in following up the unsatisfying theories of Darwin and Herbert Spencer, and though he may have done appreciable service in the scientific sphere, doubtless nobody was made better or happier by reason of his hardworked life.

Prevention of Disease.

Mr. Miles Menander Dawson, a consulting actuary and author of standard works on life insurance, says in an interview "From one-fifth to one-half of the deaths that occur in youth and middle age could be prevented by a decent regard for sanitary conditions and by common action of society for the benefit of all. It is not enough that a man should take care of himself. Disease is communicable, and protecting man against it is a social function.

"Fully one-fifth of the total number of deaths are caused by zymotic diseases which are as purely accidental as falling and breaking a leg. And one-fourth of the deaths in addition are from digestive and respiratory diseases, almost all of which are preventable. About 17 per cent of the deaths among insured lives is from consumption and 5 per cent from nervous diseases, all of which are now believed to be preventable.

"This means that fully one-half of the deaths among young and middle aged persons could be prevented and the proportion could no doubt be greatly increased if parents paid a proper respect to the laws of heredity. It would certainly be a most important achievement for the human race if united action could be taken to secure that a larger proportion of persons would attain old age than at presnt."—Ainslee's Magazine.

He Did Not Have It.

William Lightfoot Visscher in The Woman's Home Companion tells this characteristic story of the Hon. Isaac Parker, famous as the terrible judge at Fort Smith, Ark., who probably sentenced more men to be executed than any other judge that ever lived. This was not, however, because he was so unrelentingly severe, but because he had the hardest and most numerous lot of criminals to deal with that ever came within the jurisdiction of such an official. One day when there was an unusually large batch of culprits to be sentenced the judge looked compassionately over his spectacles at one young scamp and said

"In consideration of the youth and inexperience of this prisoner I shall let him off with a fine of $50"—

Before the judge had done speaking the very fresh young man coolly stretched his right leg and ran his hand into his trousers' pocket on the side, remarking nonchalantly as he did so

"That's all hunky, judge. I've got that much right here in my jeans."

"And one year in the penitentiary," continued the judge. Then, looking over at the convict in a quizzical sort of way, he added. "Do you happen to have that in your jeans?"

Queer Thing, Chance.

"I was at Monte Carlo last year," said a New York turfman, "and was amused watching the gamblers in the casino playing systems. If red would win, say, four times hand running, everybody would double up on black. The more times one color showed in succession the bigger were the bets on the other, which was mathematically an error, although you couldn't convince a gambler of it. Once while I was there red won 12 times, and over 40,000 francs were staked on black. One lone player had the nerve to put 50 francs on red. It won, and he let the bet lay, and it won again. Then everybody got a sudden idea it would win once more, and it was played to the limit. That time black showed."

"Did you ever hear about runs of color?" asked somebody.

"I did over there," replied the man who had been to Monte Carlo. "It is generally believed that when one color wins the odds are in favor of it winning twice more. There's no sense in it, but the records of the game do a good deal to confirm the superstition. Queer thing, chance."

Couldn't Chill His Wit.

Mme. Modjeska and her company were playing one winter in the extreme north, much to the discomfort of Count Bozenta, the Polish star's husband, who hates the chilly northern climate. But at that time the show business was at a very low ebb in the south. One particularly cold day Mme. Modjeska found the count shivering from head to foot in spite of the steam heat in the hotel.

"Oh, my dear, my dear!" he implored. "Let us go south for the rest of the season. This climate will kill us."

"But, my dear," replied madame, "the south is dead."

"Yes," said the count, "but she is such a be-autiful corpse."

Time to Wake.

Judge Wheaton A. Gray was hearing a criminal case in Fresno, and on a warm day, at the end of a long harangue by the prosecuting counsel, he noticed one of the jurymen asleep. As soon as the argument was completed, the judge addressed the jury in this peculiar manner: "Gentlemen of the jury, the prosecuting attorney has completed his argument. Wake up and listen to the instructions of the court."—Argonaut.

Two Claim and Delivery Cases.

Justice Pritchett did not hear the case for claim and delivery of a cow of Thomas Williams, colored vs W. F. Clarida which was to have come up Saturday afternoon. The case was continued until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Clarida says he is still buying cattle.

The case of claim and delivery of W. M. Boyd vs. Green Smith, both colored, was disposed of by Justice Pritchett Saturday afternoon. Boyd formerly boarded with Smith and left owing about $3. Smith retained a $15 suit, but the magistrate decided that as Smith was not running a licensed boarding house, as prescribed by the acts of the legislature of 1899, he could not hold the clothes, and also the costs were paid by the defendant.

The "Plow Boy Preacher," Rev. J. Kirkman, Belle Rive, Ill., says: "After suffering from Bronchial or lung trouble for ten years, I was cured by One Minute Cough Cure. It is all that is claimed for it and more." It cures coughs, colds grippe and all throat and lung troubles. Howard Gardner.

Notes of The Prowler

Late yesterday afternoon I meandered down South Elm to the depot to rubber-neck at the incoming trains. A beastly cloud was low over the city and the cold rain of today prognosticated itself in a disagreeable drizzling, rendering the atmosphere heavy and damp. The street was scarce of pedestrians, and about the only signs of animation was the flight of somebody's cur southward with Will McAdoo's dog at his heels, which race was abruptly ended at the railroad crossing by the chased dog suddenly turning upon his pursuer and showing fight and two rows of ugly-looking teeth.

Presently a big fat man came riding along majestically on an antiquated wheel, looking straight at the ground in front of him and enrapt with apparently sombre reflections. After crossing the railroad he suddenly and awkwardly dismounted, and leaving his wheel and his hat at the curb-stone, squared himself with bared head and hostile mein in the centre of the street, as I thought, for a scrap. Being an amateur myself, I felt the warm vitality engendered by a weakness—or rather a strongness—for the noble art jingling in my tissues, but I conceived the idea of waiting to discover the color and the extent of the man's quarrel with humanity in general. Imagine my surprise when he announced a text and entered immediately upon a religious harrangue to his audience of three darkeys, two small boys, a few telephone poles and a locomotive. And there he stood and fought the air, unfolding his platitudes with the cold rain beating upon his bald pate, and darkness and a storm approaching. I couldn't help admire such zeal, which must be the kind that inspired Martin Luther, John Calvin and those fellows way back yonder in the years gone by. But Luther had so much tenacity, I am sure, as this shoemaker preacher. Shadows began to creep up and down South Elm, and an unappreciative crowd soon gathered, some of whom yelled "eggs!" "take him out!" and other provoking phrases, but he preached on and on, in spite of egg-threats, rain and darkness, till the switch-engine, that irreverent monster, continued to separate the speaker from his hearers and, having a voice of greater volume than the preacher, finally broke up the service.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine, and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs are surely cured by it. Call on C. E. Holton, druggist, and get a trial bottle free. Regular size 50 and $1. Every bottle guaranteed or price refunded.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and appetite than any thing I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents at C. E. Holton's drug store. Every bottle guaranteed.

The Reason

"If you scour the world you will never find a remedy equal to One Minute Cough Cure," says Editor Fackler, of the Micanopy, Fla., "Hustler." It cured his family of LaGrippe and saves thousands from pneumonia, bronchitis, croup and all throat and lung troubles. Howard Gardner.

The Lessless Things.

At times I stand aside to watch
The busy world go by,
And count the many "lessless" things
That pass before my eye.
Where once inventors toiled for years
Intent on making something,
The wily craftsmen now, it seems,
Are bent on taking someth ng:
First came the horseless carriages,
That twist and dodge and double,
In places where a plodding horse
Would only get in trouble;
Now comes the wireless telegraph,
Most wonderful invention.
Who knows but speechless telephones
Will next claim man's attention?
Proceeding thus there is no end
To all that may be cited,
How nuisances would cease to thrive
And erstwhile wrongs be righted.
Make barkless dogs and songless cats
And arguing inversely,
Some country cows, quite milkless now,
Might then flow less perversely.
Count armless freaks and starless nights,
And let no word disparage
If some high-minded folks would like
To hold a maneless marriage
So dreamily I stand to watch
The busy world go by,
And count the many "lessless" things
That pass before my eye.

FOUR DAYS ONLY,

beginning Nov. 1st. This will give the citizens of Greensboro and vicinity a rare opportunity of having their

Eye Sight Tested Free

by one of the most renowned and successful as well as reliable Opticians in the U. S. Mr Hawkes has the modern appliances for scientific adjustment of glasses to the eye. There is no Optician in the U S who enjoys the confidence of the people more than Mr. Hawkes. His name is a familiar word throughout a section of country inhabited by over twenty-five millions of people. Mr. Hawkes has probably adjusted glasses to the eyes of more people of national and international fame than any other optician living. This firm was established in 1870.

EYE STRAIN is often the cause of headache, dizziness, nervousness and dimness of vision. This can be cured in many cases by the correct fitting of his Crystalized lenses to the eye. Call early, he positively remains but four days, as he has other engagements for later dates.

CAUTION—I would caution the public against buying spectacles from peddlers, going from house to house with a lot of spectacles, representing them to be Hawkes' or selling the same grade of goods. Hawkes' spectacles are NEVER peddled. Many of the inferior glasses that flood the country are positively injurious to the eye.

From ex-President Grover Cleveland

Executive Mansion,
Washington, Dec. 2, 1895.

A. K. Hawkes, Esq.—My Dear Sir: I find your Crystolized Lenses well suited to my eyes for far seeing. And I shall enjoy them on my hunting trips. Yours very truly,
Grover Cleveland.

The Great Warrior and Statesman

Mr. A. K. Hawkes—Dear Sir: When I require the use of glasses I wear your pantiscopic Crystalized Lenses. In respect to brilliancy and clearness of vision, they are superior to any glasses I have ever used.
Respectfully, Fitzhugh Lee,
Consul General to Cuba

One of our Greatest Statesmen

Mr. A. K. Hawkes—Dear Sir: The pantiscopic glasses you furnished me some time since have given excellent satisfaction. I have tested them by use and must say they are unsurpassed in clearness and brilliancy by any that I have ever worn.
Respectfully,

Testifies to the Good Qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

On the 10th of December, 1897, Rev. S. A. Donahoe, pastor M. E. Church, South, Point Pleasant, W. Va., contracted a severe cold, which was attended from the beginning by violent coughing. He says: "After resorting to a number of so-called 'specifics,' usually kept in the house, to no purpose, I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which acted like a charm. I most cheerfully recommend it to the public." For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

One Minute Cough Cure, cures. That is what it was made for.

A SOCIAL QUEEN.

"Who would ever believe that she is the mother of five children." These were the words that caught the ear of the Woman Reporter as she moved among the throng at a fashionable reception. Just before her stood the hostess, a young-looking, handsome woman receiving her guests with that air of hearty vivacious enjoyment which all the world considers as the special prerogative of youth.

There was sparkle in her eyes, a soft clear natural color in her cheeks; she had a firm and rounded form, and that steady easy poise of the whole body which betokens strong limbs and healthy nerves.

It was the Reporter's business to be curious; moreover, she was a woman; and receiving gracious permission to call on the following day, she duly presented herself armed with a hundred such questions as only a woman can ask.

"Yes, I have five children" said the hostess, with a tone of earnest happy pride; "hope I'll have five more. I love every one of them. They are good children too, and a comfort to me all the time."

"You can't understand it of course, and my friends wonder that I keep my health and strength and do my work; but that I take care of myself is the reason. I never used to be strong. I was thoughtless and careless. After my first baby came I was all broken down and prayed that I might never have another, but I have learned better and I am stronger now than I ever was in my life."

"Women break down because they go without the little extra help they need to tide them over hard places. When a woman expects to become a mother she ought to be at her very best. But that is exactly the time when most women feel weak and sick and miserable. They grow melancholy and anxious as the time approaches and when it comes they have no strength or stamina of body or mind to go through the ordeal."

"No wonder they suffer and nearly die sometimes, and are all broken down for months or years. If they would take the right care of themselves and strengthen themselves in a natural way, they would never suffer as they do; and instead of dreading to have children they would welcome them as a real blessing."

"It is simply a case of a 'stitch in time saves nine' or rather nine hundred. A little natural reinforcement at the time when baby is expected will save months, perhaps years of suffering and weakness. At such a time I always take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; it invariably gives me the extra strength and healthy nerve-power which a woman needs to bring her baby into the world safely and comfortably."

"It is the most wonderful thing in the world to build up a woman's nervous system and strengthen the special organism of motherhood. It gives you the recuperative power that a woman cannot get in any other way. It carries you through the nursing time beautifully; it helps you to nourish the baby and make him hearty and strong too. My four younger children are the sturdiest youngsters you ever saw. This one grand 'Favorite Prescription' has made me the healthy, happy mother I am."

"I can tell you of a dozen women who have had almost the same experience as mine. I saw a letter written by Mrs. Jennie J. Jackson, who lived at Fergussons Wharf, in Isle of Wight Co., Va. These are her own words: 'I have enjoyed better health since taking Dr. Pierce's medicine than I have since I have been married. I can work hard all day and sleep well at night. I was almost gone when I wrote to Doctor Pierce three years ago. I had uterine trouble very badly, but, thank the Lord, I am very well now. My doctor did not have any faith in 'patent medicines,' but he says, 'something has done you good.' I tried many different medicines and got no better until I tried Dr. Pierce's medicines. The first bottle gave me ease. I have taken six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and I feel as well as ever in my life, and can work hard all day and do as much walking as I ever did. I was nothing but a skeleton. I was so thin in flesh that it hurt me to lie down.'"

"I think Dr. Pierce has done more toward making healthy, happy women than any other man in this country."

"If you want a heavy cloth-bound copy of the book, like this one, (picking up and exibiting to the Reporter a large beautifully bound volume) send 31 stamps, and address World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y."

OF

Book-keeping, Business and Ornamental Penmanship and Shorthand.

For Both Sexes.

READ CAREFULLY.

PROF. V. THEO. ELY,

(12 Years Experience in Teaching)

Graduate from Rochester Business University, Rochester, N. Y., will open up a select school in Both Double and Single Entry Book-keeping, Shorthand and Muscular Movement Business Writing, at the Brockmann School of Music Hall, beginning from 9 till 11 a. m., also a separate night school from 7:00 till 9:00 for those who cannot attend in day time. No extra tuition for combining both periods.

Monday, November 13, 1899,

Tuition in both writing and book-keeping combined, full course, $10.00; writing alone, strictly slant, $3.00. Payable at the expiration of the term.

Success is guaranteed to all who attend regularly and apply themselves, or no charge will be made for tuition.

Term will continue until completed, which requires from six to eight weeks.

If you ever expect to learn book-keeping or to write a good hand, now is your time.

No tuition is paid till the term closes, and the term does not close till all have finished the book-keeping course, and each student is his own judge as to when he knows it.

This fact should be taken as sufficient guarantee of safety and success. Let the pupils attend regularly and we will be responsible for the rest. NO LESSONS TO STUDY AT HOME.

Stationery for full book-keeping course, including writing material, etc., not over 80 cents. Writing material, etc., furnished at the hall.

Hall will be kept warm and comfortable.

Why You Should Attend This School:

Because for $10.00 you get the same identical course in book-keeping and penmanship that you would get at any commercial college at from $150 to $250. Because you complete the course before you pay tuition. Because every subject is taught from the blackboard without the use of a text book. Because every other branch except book-keeping and writing, is excluded, making it possible to complete the course in from six to eight weeks.

Because we, the undersigned pupils, have just finished Prof. Ely's course in book-keeping and writing at Nicholson's Hall, Union, S. C., and freely testify to the fact that truly he offers a chance of a lifetime to learn these important branches of business education:

H. E. Mabry, W. C. Hames, Webster Gregory, W. H. West, W. C. Smith, I. O. Babb, F. C. Posey, J. T. Hawkins, James L. Hawkins, George Witherspoon, J. J. Betenbaugh (county supervisor), J. F. Powell, J. G. Farr.

UNION, S. C.

We take pleasure in saying that PROF. V. THEO. ELY has commended himself to us as a first-class gentleman in every sense of the word and worthy of anyone's confidence, both socially and professionally:

J. H. Hamilton, M. D.; F. B. Culp, Chief Police; J. G. Going, M. D.; L. S. Townsend, Merchant; Geo. Munro, Cashier Mechanics' and Planters' Bank; J. G. Farr, County Auditor; H. G. Bailey, Merchant; F. M. Whitesell, Chairman County Board of Control; The Williamson Co., Jewelry; J. L. Hicks, Superintendent Union Cotton Mills.

Horse Shoeing and Buggy and Wagon Repairing

We have enlarged our business and are now running two shops. In addition to our well known stand on Davie street we also have charge of the old Yates shop on East Sycamore street.

Competent Workmen

Are in charge at both places. HORSE SHOEING is our specialty, but we do all kinds of vehicle repair work, and

"I found your medicine a blessing to me and my family."

There are women who feel something like a grudge against the children, who, one after another rob their mother of her beauty and strength. Men do not usually realize how much the mother gives to each child to her own loss. Women accept it as part of the obligation of Nature and pay the debt grudgingly. Yet in Nature's plan every child is a new joy and fresh happiness. It isn't the children that steal the mother's strength. It is the unnatural drains and pains which weaken her.

Every woman who has used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has found in it the one thing woman has waited for. It stops the drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, makes the baby's advent a pleasure and his life a blessing. No opiates or narcotics are contained in "Favorite Prescription."

"I read what your medicine had done for other people," writes Mrs. Edwin H. Gardner, Box 70, Beechwood, Norfolk Co., Mass., "so thought I would try it, and I found that it was a blessing to me and my family. I began in June and took six bottles of your medicine, and three vials of 'Pellets.' I took your medicine a year when I had a ten pound girl. I had the easiest time I ever had with any of my children. I have been very well since. I took three bottles of "Favorite Prescription, three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and three vials of 'Pellets.' I had no appetite and could not eat much without it distressing me. Before I took the medicine I only weighed 135 pounds, and now I weigh 175."

ENTHUSIASM WANING.

English Public Realize That the War is a Serious Matter.

London, Oct. 28.—The spirit of enthusiasm with which the English entered upon the war in South Africa is disappearing. Even the masses now understand that it is a serious and grievous business which the country has on its hands. The victories, it is beginning to be whispered, have cost too much, and the price already paid is too high for mere concession of two years in Transvaal naturalization laws, or even possession of the republic itself. Popular clamor for revenge for Majuba Hill has entirely disappeared. In its place there is grim and sorrowful determination to put war thoroughly, which at first ignored or outed the unanimous hostility of the continental press, is now regarding the hostility seriously. While it is undoubtedly true that no power or combination of powers has any present intention of intervention. Lord Roseberry was right in his speech of yesterday in saying that any disaster to British arms might lead her rivals to seek profit by British difficulties. This is why aggression by British forces in Natal will be defensive aggression, to use a paradoxical phrase, until overwhelming forces arrive.

The military situation in South Africa has not improved in the past few days. News on essential points is very meagre. Never was news censorship so strict.

The British government has received positive information that a corps of a thousand has been secretly raised in Holland to help the Boers, and that two hundred are already enroute. The remainder will follow in small detachments. The rendezvous is to be at Koomati, on the Transvaal-Portuguese frontier. The men will travel as returning Transvaal citizens, and it is not believed that the Portuguese authorities can prevent them from proceeding over the railway to the frontier.

It is believed that the Transvaal's intention to issue letters of marque has been abandoned, owing to the vigilance of British warships in the English channel, which would make it hopeless for any privateer to get clear into open sea without being observed. Except as to Holland, there appears to be no popular sympathy with the Boers sufficiently strong to induce sympathizers to run risks.

James Reed Injured.

Mr. James Reed struck his leg again a cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physician, also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whiskey in bathing it, but nothing gave it any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Mr. Reed is one of the leading merchants of Clay Court House, W. Va. Pain Balm is unequalled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

RHEUMATISM CATARRH

It is the deep seated, obstinate cases of Catarrh and Rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors and remedies have failed to do, B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the system the specific poison in the blood that causes Rheumatism and Catarrh. B.B.B. is the only remedy strong enough to search out the poison, not only in the blood, but the bones, mucous membrane and entire body, and eliminate or drive out the last vestige of the disease so there can never be a return of the symptoms. If you have been disappointed in sprays, liniments, medicated air, snuff, blood purifiers, Etc., don't give up hope but try B.B.B. (Botanic Blood Balm). It has been thoroughly tested for past 30 years and has never failed to permanently cure obstinate Blood Diseases as Rheumatism, Ulcers, Catarrh, Eating Sores, Cancer, Scrofula, Pimples, Eczema, after all other treatments had failed. Ask your druggist for B. B. B.— Botanic Blood Balm or 3 Bs.— Large bottles $1, six bottles (full treatment) $5. B.B.B. is an honest remedy that makes real cures. So you may test Blood Balm, we will send a FREE TRIAL BOTTLE on receipt of 2 stamps for postage. Personal medical advice free. Address BLOOD BALM CO., ATLANTA, GA.

THE SENTRY DRANK.

But General Meade Did Not Happen to See Him Do It.

At a little village on the Susquehanna river I met an old soldier who related this incident of his experience with General Meade in the civil war. I have forgotten his name and the place where it occurred. It was a raw night in October, the wind was rather strong and Meade had fixed a stove in his tent. The soldier was the sentry for the general. A puff of wind knocked down the improvised stovepipe, and soon the tent filled with smoke. The general came out and asked the sentry to help him to rearrange it. The soldier replied that he was under orders and could not leave his post.

"Yes, yes," said Meade, "that is true, but I would like to have that stovepipe fixed. You are right." And the general went at the job himself.

"I kept pacing my beat," said the soldier, "and enjoyed Meade's efforts to get the pipe back in its place. He made a sorry mess of it. Finally he turned to me and said: 'Sentry, you will have to help me. I will be responsible for you, and if there is any trouble about your leaving the beat I will explain to the officer.'

"In a few minutes we had the pipe in position. Meade disappeared into the tent without a word of thanks, but he soon came out with a jug of applejack and asked me to take a drink. Once more I reminded him I was on duty. 'Yes, yes,' he answered, 'I know, but you helped me to fix the stovepipe.'

"He turned on his heel and re-entered the tent, leaving the jug outside. After a time he came out.

"'Did you drink?' he inquired. I nodded.

"'I knew you would, but I did not see it.'"—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A DEADLY CANE.

An Innocent Looking Instrument Which Would Destroy Life.

"Anarchists of the physical force school find it now and again irresistible to brag of the powerful things they have used or are going to use," says a writer in The Ludgate. "We will suppose that some aristocratic person has been chosen as a victim. The exact pattern of his favorite walking stick would be noted as occasion arose and a facsimile of it prepared—that is to say, so far as mere outward appearances were concerned.

"The interior would really be an infernal machine. Inside the hollow of the stick would be a metal flask containing a liquid which could emerge only from a small orifice at the top of the flask. The flask would be imbedded within a substance which would explode the instant that the liquid referred to came into contact with it.

"When an opportunity occurred for the stick to be substituted for its innocent counterpart, the handle would be unscrewed to a slight extent, thus allowing a space for the liquid to flow out, which it would do when the stick was held in a horizontal position. Most men occasionally carry their sticks in this way. So, when the victim took his supposed usual stick from the corner in which it had been placed upright, he might walk about with it for a long period without encountering actual harm, but once let him hold it horizontally or twirl it in the air there would be—well, you can imagine the result."

Steeple Clock Dials.

Difficulty is experienced in accurately reading the time of elevated clocks on account of the distance between the minute hand and the figures. Seen from below, the apparent reading may be a minute or two wrong when the hand is not at 12 or 6 on account of this distance. The perspective throws the hand out of position and gives it an apparent upward position. On the first quarter this makes the reading slow, on the last quarter fast. A proposed method of correcting this is to make the clock face concave so that the tip of the hand will almost graze the figures. Then the time can be accurately read from below.

A Trick of Style.

A woman who declares she cannot afford to buy bound books invested in a Russia leather book cover the other day. It has pockets at the ends into which to slip the covers of the books one is reading. It is very handsome, and it cost $5.

When she wraps all this gorgeousness around a 10 cent copy of "Lorna Doone" or a 25 cent edition of "Pendennis," she is placid, happy and unashamed and doesn't think she was extravagant. — New York Commercial Advertiser.

A Weak Finish.

Little Frances—Papa, my teacher told me to ask you to tell me something about Victor Hugo. Tomorrow she wants me to tell the class what was the most important thing he ever did.

Papa (who pretends to know it all)—Victor Hugo founded the Hugonauts; but, say, tell your teacher I'm paying school taxes and I don't propose to have to do her work. Make her tell you about it herself and see how she likes it.—Chicago News.

"God Bless the Duke of Argyll."

"You Americans," said the Scotchman, "suffer from an itch for notoriety."

"An itch for notoriety," responded the American with spirit, "is better than a notoriety for"—

But at that point they clinched.—Indianapolis Journal.

Some boys in an English school were requested to write a short letter to the master. One youngster added a P. S., which ran, "Please excuse bad riting and spelling, as I avent been taut any beter."

Little Pimples Turn to Cancer.

Cancer often results from an impurity in the blood, inherited from generations back. Few people are entirely free from some taint in the blood, and it is impossible to tell when it will break out in the form of dreaded Cancer. What has appeared to be a mere pimple or scratch has developed into the most malignant Cancer.

"I had a severe Cancer which was at first only a few blotches, that I thought would soon pass away. I was treated by several able physicians, but in spite of their efforts the Cancer spread until my condition became alarming. After many months of treatment and growing steadily worse, I decided to try S. S. S. which was so strongly recommended. The first bottle produced an improvement. I continued the medicine, and in four months the last little scab dropped off. Ten years have elapsed, and not a sign of the disease has returned."

R. F. WILLIAMS,
Gillsburg, Miss.

It is dangerous to experiment with Cancer. The disease is beyond the skill of physicians. S. S. S. is the only cure, because it is the only remedy which goes deep enough to reach Cancer.

Puts Calls

BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

John Fonvill and family are in the city, stopping at Clegg's.

On account of the inclement weather the sacred concert is postponed for a few days.

There was one baptism at West Washington Street Baptist church last night.

The public school at Holt's Chapel, one and a half miles east of the city, opened today with a good enrollment

Chas. W. Fisher, who takes Postoffice Inspector Dexter's place here, has arrived and with his family is stopping at Clegg's.

Prof. J. Y. Joyner will address the B. Y. P. U., of West Washington St. Baptist church, this evening, at 7:45. Everybody invited, especially young people.

The weather man is not always correct in his prognostications. Better be on the safe side, however, and always be prepared for an emergency. C. M. Vanstory & Co. advertise seasonable goods in their space on front page. Read it.

John W. Hollister, of Winston, spent yesterday in this city and left last night for Florida to accept a position as bookkeeper for Vertrees & Co., wholesale wheat dealers. John has many friends here who wish him success in his new field.

The prisoners in Guilford county jail made an attempt at escape today. They succeeded in making a hole in the wall on the north side, and were waiting for the cover of darkness to make their escape. Their little game was discovered, however, early in the afternoon.

There will be no service at the First Presbyterian church tonight, as the weather is bad, and Dr. L. M. Smith, having missed connection in Charlotte, will not arrive till 10 p. m. Beginning tomorrow there will be two services daily, at 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m., to which the public is cordially invited.

The attendance at Centenary Sunday school yesterday showed marked improvement. The interest in it is increasing and with it the numbers are growing. Since the change from holding the school in the afternoon to morning the attendance has not been so large, but yesterday's showing would indicate that it is coming. We are glad to see it.

GOOD MAN GONE.

Death Removes a Good Man From Earthly Scenes.

Captain William Smith died of cerebral apoplexy this morning at 8:05 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. T. C. Gales, on Gorrell street. The remains were carried to Wilmington on the noon train for interment tomorrow morning.

The deceased was 65 years old and had been in ill health for more than a year.

He came to this city about two weeks ago to visit his daughter. His home is in Raleigh, and for several years he was superintendent of the Seaboard Air Line.

He was a loving husband, a kind and gentle father, a good citizen, and a man of many noble traits of character, and all his acquaintances were his friends.

A devoted wife, three daughters and one son are left to mourn his demise. The daughters are Mrs. T. C. Gales, of this city, Mrs. Jas. R. Thomas, of Waynesville, and Mrs. Frank Myers, of Charleston, S. C., and the son is Wm. C. M Smith, of Clifton Forge, Va. The son and Mrs. Gales and the wife of the deceased were at the bedside when the Angel of Death called.

The surviving members of the family have the deepest sympathy of a host of warm friends throughout the state.

Coming!

A. K. Hawkes, the famous Atlanta optician, direct from the home office of this great optical house, or one of his practical opticians, will remain at the store of his agent Jno. B. Farris, druggist, for four days only, beginning Nov. 1st. This will give the citizens of Greensboro and vicinity a rare opportunity of having their eye sight tested free by one of the most renowned as well as reliable opticians in the United States.

Mr. Hawkes has all the modern appliances for the scientific adjustment of spectacles and eye glasses to the eye. There is no optician in the United States who enjoys the confidence of the people more than Mr. Hawkes. His name is a familiar word throughout a section of the country inhabited by over twenty-five millions of people. Mr. Hawkes has probably fitted glasses to the eyes of more people of national and international fame than any other optician living. His wonderful success is due to his superior grade of glasses, and to the confidence the people have in his ability as a practicing optician. This firm was established in 1870, nearly thirty years ago.

Call early as he will positively remain but four days, as he has other engagements for later dates. Caution: These famous glasses are never peddled.

Full Docket this Evening.

Mayor Taylor will have his hands full at police court this evening. The man Roberts will be tried for forgery and then there are three or four cases for drunkenness to be disposed of, besides the cases against Ed King, Joe Ware and Walker Penn for larceny.

A letter was received in this city yesterday from the chief of police of Richmond regarding the whereabouts of G. H. White, whose grip was the one Roberts left at the McAdoo when he got Clerk Brown to cash a worthless check last Monday. The letter states that White is a traveling man and is in Richmond, but will come to Greensboro next Wednesday. Mr. White says the grip was stolen from him and requests that Roberts be held until he arrives here.

Vick's Little Liver Pills keep the family well. 25c. Never gripe.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC.

BY J. W. TILLINGHAST.

[All communications intended for this department should be sent to J. W. Tillinghast, 415 Eugene street. All notices for publication should be handed in not later than 9 o'clock Monday.]

We have considered briefly in our last two papers, the school and the church as factors in the development of musical culture. We took the school first, because it is through the school that we hope to develop the material out of which our church choirs are to be made.

But let us not overlook the fact that in the history of musical growth the church came first with its necessity for musical ability and that out of this very necessity grew the idea of teaching singing in the schools. At first in singing schools, afterwards as a part of the regular course in the common schools.

Of course all this did not occur in a day or even a century, but it is the order of the development and is significant, as all history is when boiled down.

Let us talk "music in the schools" until we begin to think it would be a good thing, then a necessary thing—then it will come.

Next week I wish to write about social music—musical clubs—but today I feel that I must say a few words about the sacred concert to be given tonight at the West Market street church. I have not heard a single rehearsal of the many that have been held and I know nothing of what degree of excellence will be attained in the rendering of some very excellent music that is on the program. But I do know that even if it is not perfectly rendered—that even if those who go to criticize do find something to do—a good thing will have been done in having this concert. The spirit that undertakes the work is a good spirit and the work is in the right direction. A sacred concert has a great many things to recommend it to the musical worker. The limitless stock of good music to draw from, the association with the church which enlists the interest and assistance of a great many who would not work in any other cause. The convenience of the rehearsals, held in the church building and often on Sunday—all aid in making that form of concert more possible than perhaps any others. Then so very many people are reached who could not afford to go to expensive musical entertainments but who do come and enjoy the good chorus singing and contribute what they can or care to.

I hope church concerts may become popular in Greensboro—they will do much for the singing (I mean chorus choirs of course).

The Dan Packard Opera Company which begins its engagement tonight with "The Mascot," is a good company—better than the average organization of its kind. They have a nice little orchestra and their ensemble work often rises above the commonplace. This is an excellent opening for those people who are so often regretting that nothing good ever comes to Greensboro.
